

No one can say Fred M. Alger, Jr., doesn't profit by his mistakes. He already has tossed the Alger sombrero into the ring for the gubernatorial race in 1952.

In 1950 Alger hemmed and hawed too long before getting into the running and Kelly beat him out by a nose in the primary.

What of Williams? He says he likes being governor and that at the present time he expects to be in the fight. His aides state flatly, "He'll run."

Governor Williams welcomed the annual convention of the National Association of Tax Administrators to Mackinac Island by reciting the details of the state's financial troubles and dumping the blame on the Republican controlled legislature.

The governor spanked us publicly as called in the neighbors to watch," said Rep. Roy H. Brigham (R-Battle Creek), while others stormed that Williams' remarks were "entirely out of place at a gathering like this."

But Williams made his point.

Some Republican legislative leaders estimated that only $20 million was needed for the coming fiscal year. These spokesmen in disagreement with Auditor General John B. Martin of Grand Rapids, advised candidate for the United States Senate, who recently predicted a substantial treasury deficit of upwards to $80 million by June 30, 1952.

Most observers forecast an increase in the treasury deficit in the new fiscal year starting July, 1951. Thus the pressure is due to mount for additional tax revenues to finance public services of the state and local governments.

Among the discussed new sources are a corporation profits tax, as advocated by the Governor; an industrial processing tax, such as the proposed 3 per cent levy on purchase of industrial equipment; an amendment of the state constitution permitting a state income tax on individuals and corporations; and a federal constitutional amendment limiting federal taxation to five per cent of the national income, thus permitting local and state governments to recapture part of revenues now going to Washington.

The meeting was held June 23 and it was the board's decision to sell all of the corporation's equipment and machinery and to operate Timberlands Inc., as a lands and lumber company only. The board plans on building a dam at the outlet of Wakeley Lake raising the lake level to where it will make good resort property.

The mills will be mounted on trailers in order that they may easily be moved from site to site making it possible to cut small tracts of timber profitably.

The lumber will be brought to the planing mill for processing into materials for the construction of log cabins and other buildings.

Mr. Madsen will contract for the building of cabins on land sold from the holdings of Timberlands Inc. He will have his offices in a building on Huron street formerly occupied by the Johnson Oil Company.

Squandering Your Money

Anyone who has the slightest interest in honest, economical government should read an article by Charles Stevenson in the June 9 issue of the Saturday Evening Post, called "How Government Pressure Boys Squander Your Money." The point of it is well described by the Post's sub-title "With expensive books, cocktail parties and thousands of paid press agents, government-agencies beat the drum to glorify and perpetuate themselves. They try to teach you what to think—at your expense."

Mr. Stevenson's article deals with governmental publicity activities—paid for, of course, by all the taxpayers. Here is a small sample of what he has to say: "Budget Bureau statistics indicates that $105,000,000 is spent annually from taxes to pay 3,400 Federal publicity employees and circulate their product. Much of this represents statistical reports desirable promotion of good farming practices, information concerning social-security benefits, plus other services authorized by Congress. But much of it is also sheer propaganda of another order. In one week The New York Times received enough government news releases to fill 800 of its columns, and the Journalism Quarterly, on analyzing 286 releases of this type, found 55,080 words of press-agency, 10,166 words to influence legislation, and 45,615 words to influence policy."

Mr. Stevenson names names. The Federal Security Administration has shot the works in promoting compulsory government health insurance. The Bureau of Reclamation has beaten the drums to the limit to force socialism of the power industry and government power development, especially in the West. And government propaganda has entrenched the Army Engineers "as an all-powerful pork-barrel construction agency."

It is an amazing story—and a disheartening one. How much longer will the "government pressure boys" be permitted to squander the taxpayers' money?

INTERROGATE NORTH KOREAN . . . Members of U.N. forces interrogate a native of North Korea, who is eager to tell all he knows about the crafty enemy, who may have retreated many miles away or may be just over the ridge of the next hill ahead. It is better to know from this means than from a burst of machine gun fire or the explosive pattern of a mortar barrage.

Your Buick probably steers so sweetly on the road, it's hard to realize that thousands of travel miles and millions of bumps may have put the front wheels out of alignment.

Yet a little misalignment can ruff a lot of mileage off your front tires—and make control less sure.

It's an easy matter for us, with our special equipment, to give your whole front-end assembly the checkup it should have periodically. Drive in soon, why don't you, and let our experts make sure your Buick is tracking true?
